RUBBER CEMENT

A fast-setting, solvent type, synthetic rubber compound designed for industrial bonding operations on high speed production schedules. Bonding is accomplished by instantaneous pressure alone; no clamps, presses, or complicated heat curing schedules are needed.

- Suitable for most types of dissimilar lamination involving metal, closed cell rubber, formica, and wood. Produces an odorless, non-staining bond which is resistant to heat, moisture, oil, grease, and many chemicals.
- The film is firm and tenacious, featuring high dead-load strength, yet sufficiently elastic to resist shock and fatigue.
